

Richard Harvey

Barrister, Garden Court Chambers, London

Richard has 40 years of experience in human rights, international criminal tribunals, criminal trials and appeals, tribunals of inquiry and international environmental issues.

He has worked in The Hague since 2005: as leading counsel in Prosecutor v Haradinaj, Balaj & Brahimaj (2005-2012, ending with the acquittal of three Kosovo Liberation Army leaders); and as lead standby counsel in Prosecutor v Radovan Karadzic (2009 and continuing, trial of the self-representing former President of Republika Srpska). He is also a consultant to the Association of Defence Counsel of the Special Tribunal for Lebanon.

From 1980-2000 he practised law in Harlem, New York, specialising in Federal & State criminal trials and advising governments and NGOs on international human rights issues. From 2000-2004 he was counsel at the Bloody Sunday Inquiry into mass killings of innocent civilians by the British Army in Derry, Northern Ireland.

He has a substantial law practice in England and Wales, where he has conducted many major criminal trials. Recent work includes training workshops on alternatives to the death penalty for High Court Judges and practitioners in Uganda; and in Northern Ireland, overseeing investigations into a alleged police involvement in a series of murders in North Belfast.

He is an adviser to Greenpeace International and Amnesty International on environmental and human rights matters.

Contribution to the Alumni event International Crimes and Criminology Friday, September 27, 2013

Richard Harvey will lead an inter-active debate with the ICC alumni on having a (future) career in International Criminal Justice.
